

The conditions of the ongoing global civilizational correction.

Important situation note of 02 april 2022.

For the new readers of the site, let us recall that eco-humanism transmits a great historical civilizational project, based on the concept of a common House protecting all humanity. It has long been foreseen that this house, which has been in progressive construction for more than 26 centuries, could be completed in the 21st century, as soon as modern societal forces, sufficiently powerful and cohesive, could organize the necessary operating conditions. And this is all the more legitimate since these conditions derive, in addition to a legitimate majority will, from a naturally self-corrected patrimony of development, which belongs to every sane peoples, and that important thinkers and socio-political currents of each epoch, respectful of the general human interest, have been able to continuously enrich until then.

Such societal forces have finally been mobilized, supported by a new military supremacy and a solid socio-political alliance of several great peoples. From now on, a new civilizational model concretely driven since February 2022 by Russia, accompanied by China and India, and by more and more other nations, has begun to realize the conditions provided for the final construction of the Common Human House. It is a major meta-historical event, carrying ruptural consequences involving in particular a purge and/or amputation of the toxic (western) societal minority, pathologically opposed to the legitimate human general interest for several centuries. In addition to the military route, this predatory and fraudulent minority will inevitably be eliminated by all means, including economically and politically. However, its reactions and the resulting damage are unpredictable.

But whatever occurs, eco-humanists will have to contribute to the maximum to the success of the corrective and protective forces, allied for the defense of the common Human House, which already represent a large majority of the world population. Many eco-humanists active in Africa and Latin America immediately took up the cause. For their part, those who reside in North America and Europe are forced to act much more prudently, but they remain ready to intervene as well, because nothing can stop the ongoing civilizational correction.

If you are interested by an eco-humanist volunteering at the service of this legitimate correction, know that the necessary knowledge bases are available free of charge on this site, and that you can assimilate them at your own pace, including by self-taught way if you do not have access to an adequate local educational structure (association, university, etc.). Then you can join an existing eco-humanist collective structure, or create a new one with other volunteers.

Good courage for all.
