For the new adherents, let us recall that eco-humanism transmits a great historical civilizational project, based on the concept of a common House protecting all humanity. It has been foreseen in the 20th century that this house, in progressive construction for more than 26 centuries, could be inaugurated in the 21st century, as soon as modern societal forces, sufficiently powerful and cohesive, backed with an adequate technology, could organize the necessary operating conditions. This being all the more legitimate since, in addition to a legitimate majority will, these conditions derive from a naturally self-corrected patrimony of development, which belongs to every sane people, and to which important thinkers and socio-political currents of each epoch, respecting the general human interest, have been able to continuously increase until then.

Such societal forces have finally been mobilized, supported by a new military supremacy and a solid socio-political alliance of several great peoples. From now on, a new civilizational model concretely driven since February 2022 by Russia, accompanied by China, and by more and more other nations, has begun to realize the conditions provided for the inauguration of the first part of the modern Common Human House.

It is a major meta-historical event, carrying ruptural consequences, involving in particular a purge and/or an amputation of the toxic (western) societal minority, pathologically opposed to the legitimate human general interest for several centuries. In addition to the military route, this predatory and fraudulent minority will inevitably be eliminated by all means, including economically and politically. However, its reactions and the resulting damage are unpredictable.

But whatever occurs, eco-humanists will have to contribute to the maximum to the success of the corrective and protective forces, allied for the defense of the common Human House, which already represent a large majority of the world population. Many eco-humanists active in Africa and Latin America immediately took up the cause. For their part, those who reside in North America and Europe are forced to act much more prudently, but they remain ready to intervene as well, because nothing can stop the ongoing civilizational correction.

If you are interested by an eco-humanist volunteering at the service of this legitimate correction, know that the necessary knowledge bases are available free of charge, and that you can assimilate them at your own pace, including by self-taught way if you do not have access to an adequate local educational structure (association, university, etc.). Then you can join an existing eco-humanist collective structure, or create a new one with other volunteers.

Good courage for all.
