Reminder : These documents are intended, on the one hand, for new sympathisers who have begun to discover eco-humanism and who want to improve and deepen their knowledge of this exceptional cultural heritage; and, on the other hand, for the already involved eco-humanists who want to re-source, complete, or refresh their knowledges, for improving their actual activity.

It is generally convenient to learn the eco-humanist bases in an ad-hoc collective structure (association, university, etc.), but if it is not possible, any interested person can also acquire, in a self-taught way, by his own readings and at his own pace, sufficient knowledge bases to become fully eco-humanist. The documentary basis presented here allows such self-training, with documents available in paper and electronic format (eBooks from the web). Some documents are still being translated.
